

DP Cable connectors for Laser Printers

There is no need to sustain long-term hearing loss from your Oki printers any more! The SNUG Technical Committee has produced handy connectors that simply plug into your Digi-box on one end and the Laser Printer on the other end. All you need to do is connect a network patch cable (Cat5) between them and you will be printing legible reports, impressing clients and saving your agent's ear drums from the drone of the dot matrix printer in no time!
